INTRODUCTION

By the end of the 20th century, English finally had the status of a world language strengthened. Today, the skill of knowing foreign languages is a professional education is becoming one of the integral parts. Foreign experts in various fields since the rate of cooperation with partners is high, to learn the language with them the demand is high. Foreign languages are an important component of professional education in modern society is becoming a part.

Language is the main means of communication, without which it is impossible to imagine the existence and development of human society difficult Today in our world there are great changes in social relations communication media (information technologies) of students at the same time requires improvement of communicative skills, they are other participants of communication exchange of ideas, language and speech in various situations during interaction with requires the correct use of norms. In such conditions, the main purpose of a foreign language is the formation of communicative ability, that is, interpersonal and intercultural in a foreign language communication is required. It has become compulsory in most schools around the world and teaching methodology began to develop by leaps and bounds. English independently

It's everyone's way of taking courses that led to the emergence of the first method of learning not able to. Later, many authors are effective in learning English tried to create the program independently, but we focus on the 4 most popular let's look.

1. Schechter's method. This method of learning English is not the classical model "from theory to practice". It is very similar to how we learn our mother tongue looks like the author gives the example of young children learning how to speak - after all, no one does not explain to them the rules of construction of sentences, situations and parts of speech.

This technique of the English language consists of three stages: in the first, lexical units, words and phrases are given, and only then in the second and third stages are grammatical and syntactic structure usage is fixed. The system has repeatedly confirmed its effectiveness and currently one of the most successful from the point of view of educational psychologists is considered

2. Pimsler's method: Dr. Paul Pimsler not only perceives information, but also processes it developed a special system of 30-minute lessons designed for graduation.

Each lesson is taught by two people: our compatriot and native English speaker Thanks to this and special memorization technology, every student learns hundreds of English words and phrases for each lesson. The essence of the lesson is to perform the tasks given by the speakers in sequence.

Undoubted advantages of the technique include its mobility - you want

You can perform audio tasks on the go: when you're in traffic, to work on the go, on the subway on the way to a meeting, or in bed before going to bed when you lie down. The downside is that there won't be a high-quality pronunciation and knowledge acquisition test.

3. Dragunkin method

A distinctive feature of the system of Alexander Nikolayevich Dragunkin any foreign language focuses on the native Russian language in learning. He boldly called the English language simple author that its roots go back to the ancient Russian language, especially the system of grammatical tenses emphasizes. Dragunkin course students new words transcribed in Russian letters learn and grammatical constructions to the 12 tenses known to us from school not divided into past, present, future and their changes.

4. Petrov Method. Dmitry Petrov says that you can learn English in 16 hours possible True, the author once again clarifies that we are a citizen born in Great Britain level, we are not talking about mastering the language, but about basic knowledge.

CONCLUSION

In conclusion, it should be said that teaching a modern language makes a person more cultured aimed at formation. Innovative methods are integral to the modernization of the entire system is a part of Many organizations use multimedia to send and receive information is moving to a new level using its capabilities. Computers and more the use of devices determine the success of the entire educational process.

Speech skills in the trainings conducted during the educational process sufficient attention should be paid to formation and development of social flexibility need In addition, the success of each lesson in education depends on many aspects of training depends on proper organization. The lesson is for the creative cooperation of the teacher and the student should be justified.
